

THE STORY OF IRELAND

The Celts: Activity 1

The Celtic people are mysterious. They left no written evidence, so we have to rely on what others have written about them and use our imaginations to try to piece together what they were like. Pretend you are about to travel back in time to Celtic Ireland to interview someone the same age as you. Use the boxes below to write a description of who you met and what you saw.

What type of information will you need? Think about the questions you will ask and the answers you will get. Don't forget to include what you might see, hear, taste, smell, and touch when you arrive. If you need extra information try the following websites:
