

Alfie's grandad had grown hundreds of plants in his garden, but Alfie had never seen anything like this one.

Its stems were a maze of twists and turns and the leaves were large and crinkly and covered in pointy blue hairs.

But it was the flower that gave Alfie the biggest shock.

'You must be young Alfie Green,' said the flower.

