

The Volunteers in the Parochial Hall joined in and without cover the young British were slaughtered.

Colonel Fane insisted on leading his young recruits in repeated assaults on No.25.

As the corpses piled up, nurses and doctors from a nearby hospital intervened.

This action by the nurses and doctors was repeated at intervals.

