

Eva's Holiday: In The News

ISBN 978-1-84717-280-8

(Read pages 214-215)

When the newspaper reporter goes back to his office he gathers his notes and begins to write his report. Like any good reporter he has concentrated on the facts first and will include his opinion at the end of his article (COPY) including any opinions that were given to him by the people in the field.

He has gathered his facts and information under the 5 x W & H framework to help him remember and will try to answer all 5 W questions in his first paragraph. Then he will write his opinion piece. Finally he will try to create an exciting headline for his article.

Can you use the template below to create his notes, article and headline?
