

Grafton Street Boutique Shopper

To qualify as a bona fide Grafton Street shopper you must have one of the following: a rich daddy, a rich hubby, a winning lotto ticket or the now familiar combination of a credit card and absolutely no brain. Sadly, this last species of GS shoppers form by far the largest grouping and can be identified in Grafton Street as they emerge from their foraging by the fact that they are practically clattering you on the side of the feckin' head with their logoed bags to make sure you know where they've been.
