

Finn walked
till he came to a field.

He walked till he came to a stream.

He walked till
he came to a pool.

And there
was a man called Finnegas.

He was sitting under a nut tree.

The tree grew by the pool.
It was very old.
Older than anything.
And very tall.
Taller than anything.
Its branches spread
over the water.

'Are you a teacher?'
said Finn.
'I am,' said Finnegas.

'Will you teach me?'
said Finn.

'I might,' said Finnegas.